American Oncology Network to Host Annual Clinical Summit Conference in Las Vegas

October 11, 2023

The conference brings together healthcare and community oncology leaders for clinical education programs and industry updates.

FORT MYERS, Fla., October 11, 2023 – American Oncology Network (AON) (Nasdaq: AONC) is pleased to announce its annual Clinical Summit conference, which is scheduled for October 12 through October 15 at the Bellagio Hotel in Las Vegas.

The conference brings together the network's healthcare and oncology leaders and physicians from across the nation for a multi-day event. Attendees will discuss and learn about the latest advancements in oncology that will elevate patient care, all under the central theme of 'Collaborate, Innovate and Celebrate.'

In addition to educational sessions and informative AON and industry update breakouts, this year's conference features guest speaker Diely Pichardo, MD, a retired hematologist-oncologist, who will deliver the interactive session on well-being and career longevity. Attendees will also earn continuing medical education credits with Dr. Neil Love's Research to Practice CME program and have access to a clinical trial and research session provided by AON clinical research leadership.

"The Clinical Summit is an exciting event that provides a platform for learning about the latest trends, sharing knowledge and building connections with others in community oncology so that cancer care can be improved," said Todd Schonherz, AON's chief executive officer. "The conference fosters innovation and collaboration within our community oncology industry, and we look forward to welcoming our physicians and leaders to this year's event."

AON is one of the nation's fastest-growing networks focused on ensuring the viability of community oncology. Since its inception in 2018, the company has expanded to include over 200 healthcare providers in more than 75 clinics and has a current presence in 19 states.

"This year's theme captures the AON journey perfectly," said Stephen "Fred" Divers, MD, AON's chief medical officer and medical oncologist at Genesis Cancer and Blood Institute, one of AON's first partner practices to join the organization. "AON celebrated its fifth anniversary in September, and as we look back on the past five years, we reflect on the tremendous impact that collaboration and innovation have had on AON's success. The theme 'Collaborate, Innovate and Celebrate' is an ode to AON and the teams who have dedicated themselves to bringing AON to where it is today."

About American Oncology Network
American Oncology Network (AON) (Nasdaq: AONC) is an alliance of physicians and seasoned healthcare leaders partnering to ensure the long-term success of community oncology and other specialties. Launched in 2018, the rapidly expanding AON network represents 109 physicians and 96 nurse practitioners and physician assistants practicing across 19 states. The executive management team of AON encompasses more than four decades of oncology practice management experience, enabling physicians to focus on what matters most — providing the highest quality care for patients.

The organization provides unique and comprehensive protocols for managing administrative procedures and enhancing ancillary services for its affiliates. AON is able to aggregate volume and attain economies of scale, as it guides its member physicians and practices through the transition to value-based reimbursement models that improve the patient experience and help to reduce the per-capita cost of cancer care.

AON also provides a unique model of physician-led, community-based oncology management. With services such as a centralized specialty pharmacy, diagnostics, pathology, fully integrated electronic medical records, a care management team and a variety of financial assistance programs, an alliance with AON ensures that patients' experiences are at the very pinnacle of cancer care today.
