Low Country Cancer Care Relocates Waycross Clinic, Continues to Provide Specialized Care for Cancer and Blood Disorders

May 22, 2024

Asit Jha, MD, serves as the main oncologist at the new clinic location.

WAYCROSS, Ga., May 22, 2024 – Community oncology practice Low Country Cancer Care, a partner practice of American Oncology Network (AON) (Nasdaq: AONC), has announced the relocation of its Waycross clinic to 1706 Alice Street, which is now open and accepting current and new patients.

The Waycross clinic is more than 5,000 square feet and has four private exam rooms for patients to meet with the physician and care team. It also includes a dedicated room with ten to twelve chairs for infusion therapies. Patients visiting the clinic will be seen by Asit Jha, MD, one of the Board-certified medical oncologists at Low Country Cancer Care.

Asit Jha, MD
Medical Oncologist
Low Country Cancer Care

"Our new facility has been designed with patient comfort and privacy in mind," said Dr. Jha. "Our care approach is holistic and involves treating the whole person, not just the disease. In order to do so, we need to provide a clean, comfortable and inviting space where our patients can receive their therapies and a warm, friendly care team who are dedicated to every patient who walks into our clinic. We are excited to attend to our patients at our new facility."

Low Country Cancer Care provides exclusive care to patients diagnosed with various types of cancer and blood disorders. Dr. Jha joined the practice in April 2022 opening the clinic in Waycross and a second location in Alma earlier this year. The practice has access to a wide array of administrative and clinical resources and support that allow it to improve patient care delivery.

"Our partner practice's success is celebrated across our network," said Stephen "Fred" Divers, MD, AON's chief medical officer. "In prioritizing patient needs, practices often consider office relocation. The new facility empowers the physicians and care team to excel in providing their high-quality, health-promoting care to its patients."

"We are dedicated to serving our patients per our Code of Ethics at each of our clinic locations, including our new Waycross one," said Dr. Jha. "While we are now in a new location, our patients can expect limited to no disruption in our services as well as the same high-quality care they have received from us."

For more information about AON, visit www.AONcology.com. For more information about Low Country Cancer Care, visit www.lcccsav.com.

###

About American Oncology Network
American Oncology Network (AON) (Nasdaq: AONC) is an alliance of physicians and seasoned healthcare leaders partnering to ensure the long-term success and viability of community oncology and other specialties. Founded in 2018, AON's rapidly expanding network represents more than 240 providers practicing across 21 states. AON pioneers innovative healthcare solutions through its physician-led model, fostering value-based care that improves patient outcomes while reducing costs and expanding access to quality care. AON equips its network physicians with the tools they need to thrive independently while providing comprehensive support, integrated revenue-diversifying ancillary services, and practice management expertise, enabling physicians to focus on what matters most – providing the highest standard of care for every patient. AON is committed to promoting health equity by addressing disparities in cancer care and ensuring that all patients have access to the care they need to achieve optimal health outcomes. With a focus on innovation and collaboration, AON is shaping the future of community oncology. Learn more at AONcology.com.

About Low Country Cancer Care
We are a specialized practice devoted to the care of people with cancer and blood disorders as well as the prevention and eradication of these types of diseases. We strive to combine the activities of patient care, prevention, education, and research to benefit our patients. Low Country Cancer Care is constantly striving to provide advanced treatment and world-class medicine in a warm, compassionate, and personalized environment. Our experienced and highly trained team is dedicated to providing the highest-quality diagnosis, treatment, care and trust for our patients. Our goal is to provide unsurpassed care with a human touch. Learn more at www.lcccsav.com.

Contact for more information:
Caroline Hewitt, Vice President of Marketing
American Oncology Network
Caroline.Hewitt@AONcology.com